DETAILED ACTION

Drawings

1. The drawings are objected to under 37 CFR 1.83(a). The drawings must show every feature of the invention specified in the claims. Therefore, the “the base and outer membrane” being integrally formed from a single piece of material, “the first and second members” being bonded together, and the “180 degree fold” must be shown or the feature(s) canceled from the claim(s). No new matter should be entered.

Corrected drawing sheets in compliance with 37 CFR 1.121(d) are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. Any amended replacement drawing sheet should include all of the figures appearing on the immediate prior version of the sheet, even if only one figure is being amended. The figure or figure number of an amended drawing should not be labeled as “amended.” If a drawing figure is to be canceled, the appropriate figure must be removed from the replacement sheet, and where necessary, the remaining figures must be renumbered and appropriate changes made to the brief description of the several views of the drawings for consistency. Additional replacement sheets may be necessary to show the renumbering of the remaining figures. Each drawing sheet submitted after the filing date of an application must be labeled in the top margin as either "Replacement Sheet" or "New Sheet" pursuant to 37 CFR

1.121(d). If the changes are not accepted by the examiner, the applicant will be notified and informed of any required corrective action in the next Office action.

The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

1. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

2. Claims 55-58 and 64-69 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

In claim 60, it is unclear in the context of the claims how the first and second members are bonded together. This is true throughout the claims.

In claim 55, it is unclear how the first and second members can be formed of one piece of material. This is true throughout the claims.

In claim 57 and 64, it is unclear how this structure is possible. Exactly how does this folding ^{take} ~~take~~ place? This is true throughout the claims.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

4. Claims 54, 59, and 63 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by McCall et al., US Patent 5,000,599. A writing instrument comprising an elongate body having first and second ends; a writing mechanism projecting from the body first end; and a deformable sleeve 16, a generally tubular outer membrane 28 with a second diameter larger than the first diameter of 26 positioned generally concentric with a base region at 26. Although not shown in the drawings, McCall clearly discloses that sleeve can have a generally tubular base with a first diameter falls within the scope of his invention (see column 5, lines 57-63), thereby and defining an inner surface engaging the body near the writing mechanism, as claimed. Respective ends of the base and outer membrane may engage or be bonded to define a cavity there between, a sealable passageway defined between adjacent ends of the tubular base and outer membrane in fluid communication with the cavity, and a formable material disposed in the cavity.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

5. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

6. Claims 55-58, 60, 62 and 63, as best understood, are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over McCall. Although the base and outer membrane are not explicitly taught as being of a single piece of material, and the claimed folding of the device, it would have been an obvious matter of design choice to make the different portions of the device of whatever form or shape was desired or expedient. A change in form or shape is generally recognized as being within the level of ordinary skill in the art, absent any showing of unexpected results. In re Dailey et al., 149 USPQ 47. Such a modification solves no stated problem, and is not considered critical to the design.

Allowable Subject Matter

7. Claim 61 is objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

8. Claims 64-69 would be allowable if rewritten or amended to overcome the rejection(s) under 35 U.S.C. 112, 2nd paragraph, set forth in this Office action.
